HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.
The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:
Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.
The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigations possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit these well known remedies—
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.
DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c.
There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the digestion digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.
PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,
And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.
NOTICE.
It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; in fact, unless they are in possession, never feel well; but are languid, devoid of all energy, cadaverous, nervous, and have no appetite, or to use their own expressions, they are languid, devoid
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.
WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,
Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail. Thousands of certificates have been submitted in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. These, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.
HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1767.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and in want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD."
HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."
FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding this practice as out of my appropriate sphere, have declined; but with a clear conscience and particularly in the confidence of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Lightly, below Coates St.
FROM REV. E. D. PENDALL.
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly,
E. D. PENDALL.

Private Habits of Horace Greeley.

BY MARK TWAIN, OF THE TRIBUNE'S STAFF.

From Wilkes' Spirit of the Times.

Mr. Greeley gets up at three o'clock in the morning; for it is one of his favorite maxims that only early rising can keep the health unimpaired and the brain vigorous. He then wakes up all the household and assembles them in the library, by candle-light, and, after quoting the beautiful lines:

Early to bed and early to rise
Make a man healthy, wealthy, and wise," he appoints each individual's task for the day, sets him at it with encouraging words, and goes back to bed again. I mention here, in no fault-finding spirit, but with the deference justly due a man who is older and wiser and worthier than I, that he snores awfully. In a moment of irritation, once, I was rash enough to say I never would sleep with him until he broke himself of this unfortunate habit. I have kept my word with bigoted and unwavering determination.

At half past 11 o'clock Mr. Greeley rises again. He shaves himself. He considers that there is great virtue and economy in shaving himself. He does it with a dull razor, sometimes humming a part of a tune, (he knows part of a tune, and takes an innocent delight in regarding it as the first half of Old Hundred; but parties familiar with that hymn have felt obliged to confess that they could not recognize it, and therefore the noise he makes is doubtless an unconscious original composition of Mr. Greeley's,) and sometimes, when the razor is especially dull, he accompanies himself with formula an emphatic.

He then goes out into his model garden, and applies his vast store of agricultural knowledge to the amelioration of his cabbages; after which he writes an able agricultural article for the instruction of American farmers, his soul cheered the while with the reflection that if the cabbages were worth eleven dollars apiece his model farm would pay.

He next goes to breakfast, which is a frugal, abstemious meal with him and consists of nothing but just such things as the market affords, nothing more. He drinks nothing but water—nothing whatever but water, and coffee, and tea, and Scotch ale, and lager beer, and lemonade with a fly in it—sometimes a house fly, and sometimes a horse fly, according to the amount of inspiration required to warm him to his duties. During breakfast he reads the Tribune all through, and enjoys the satisfaction of knowing that all the brilliant things in it, written by Young, and Cooke, and Hazard, and myself are attributed to him by a confiding and infernal public.

After breakfast he writes a short editorial, and puts a large dash at the beginning of it, thus (——), which is the same as if he put H. G, after it, and takes a savage pleasure in reflecting that none of us understrappers can use that dash, except in profane conversation when chafing over the outrage. He writes this editorial in his own hand-writing. He does it because he is so vain of his penmanship. He always did take an inordinate pride in his penmanship. He hired out once, in his young days, as a writing master, but the enterprise failed. The pupils could not translate his remarks with any certainty. His first copy was "Virtue is its own reward," and they got it "Washing with soap is wholly absurd," and so the trustees discharged him for attempting to convey bad morals, through the medium of worse penmanship. But, as I was saying, he writes his morning editorial. Then he tries to read it over, and can't do it, and so sends it the printers, and they try to read it, and can't do it; and so they set it up at random as you may say, putting in what words they can make out, and when they get aground on a long word they put in "reconstruction" or "universal suffrage," and spar off and paddle ahead, and next morning, if the degraded public can tell what it is all about, they say H. G. wrote it, and if they can't they say it is one of those imbecile understrappers, and this is the end of it.

On Sundays Mr. Greeley sits in a prominent pew in Mr. Chapin's church, and lets on that he is asleep, and the congregation regard it as an eccentricity of genius.

When he is going to appear in public, Mr. Greeley spends two hours on his toilet. He is the most pains-taking and elaborate man about getting up his dress that lives in America.—This is his chiefest and his pleasantest foible. He puts on his old white overcoat, and turns up the collar. He puts on a solid shirt, saved from the wash, and leaves one end of the collar unbuttoned. He puts on his most dilapidated hat, turns it wrong side before, cants it on to the back of his head, and jams an extra dent in the side of it. He puts on his most atrocious boots, and spends fifteen minutes tucking the left leg of his pants into his boot top in what shall seem the most careless and unstudied way. But his cravat—it is into the arrangement of his cravat that he throws all his soul, all the powers of his great mind. After fixing it it for forty minutes before the glass it is perfect—it is askew every way—it overflows his coat collar on one side and sinks into oblivion on the other—it climbs and it delves around his neck—the knot is conspicuously displayed under his left ear, and it stretches one of the long ends straight out horizontally, and the other goes after his eye, in the good old Toodles fashion—and then, completely and marvelously apparoled, Mr. Greeley strides for the rolling like a sailor, a miracle of astounding costumery, the awe and wonder of the nations.

But I haven't time to tell the rest of his private habits. Suffice it that he is an up-right and honest man—a practical, great-brained man—a useful man to his nation and generation—a famous man who has justly earned his celebrity—and withal the worst dressed man in this or any country even though he does not take so thundering much pains and put on so many frils about it.

A SCENE IN THE WAR.

NARROW ESCAPE OF GEN. SHERMAN.

[From the Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist.]

[The following remarkable anecdote comes to us from an esteemed contributor. He says: "I did not myself meet with the adventure recorded, but it was narrated to me by a dear friend, whose word I could implicitly trust, but whose death has occurred since the surrender."—ED.]

One morning, how it matters not, four of my company, myself among the number, found ourselves in the wilds of South Carolina, without any knowledge of the country, separated from our command, and having an idea that Sherman's advance guard was close to us, but in what direction we could not tell, as we were utterly at a loss.

This, it will be allowed, was a situation far from pleasant, but when, in addition, it is taken into consideration that we were enduring the pangs of hunger and thirst; that we were weary, heart and body—completely broken down—and that we possessed a sorrowful consciousness that the Confederacy was near its end, it will be readily imagined that very few jokes and hilarious remarks enlivened our conversation as we jogged along. Hunger is the guest that uses very little ceremony in his visits; and the little fellow was knocking at our breasts very rudely, and clamorously asserting his presence. He was not to be put to silence, and so, for peace sake, we determined to grant his request. As if to try us, no sooner had we agreed to search for food than we came to a by-path which branched off to the right of the road we were travelling. It looked promising, and looking down a leafy vista we discerned, about three hundred yards off, unmistakable signs of a farm house, and as a thing, of course, a land flowing with milk and honey. So, determined to "stand the hazard of the die," we filed off down the road to breakfast. We found a small farm house, inhabited by an old widow lady, whose two sons had been killed in Virginia, and who, with four or five faithful slaves, still managed to keep her little farm in good order. Welcoming us, for "the sake of the gray," as she said, we were soon seated on the grass-plot, enjoying a good though homely meal, and the influence of her excellent buttermilk, corn bread and fried chicken, were rapidly becoming re invigorating. Suddenly a confusion of voices sounded near us, and I caught the gleam of bright sabres and uniforms, as about a dozen cavalry in dark blue thundered down toward us. Evidently they had not seen us. A word and a touch, and all four were in the adjoining thicket awaiting the approach. They galloped up, and ordering breakfast, sat down on a bench to await it. I felt a touch on my shoulder, and looking up saw a pale face near my own, with eyes turned in a constrained manner to an officer on the bench.

"R——," the lips whispered almost inaudibly, "now is the time to end the war. Yonder sets Sherman."

I was so utterly taken by surprise that I did not at first comprehend him, but gradually as I gazed mechanically on the officer pointed out to me, I began to understand that the South's greatest and most powerful enemy, the one who was rapidly wiping her out of existence as a nation, who held her fate, as it were, in the hollow of his hand, who had done her more evil in four months than all his predecessors had accomplished in as many years, was sitting here serene and unconscious, within reach of my carbine, I at once commenced cautiously to unsling it.

The fate of the Confederacy perhaps hung on that moment; when at this length of time I think upon the awful interests that were at stake, my brain reels and I grow faint. The General arose, unconscious of his peril, and walked with a rapid military tread into the house, followed by his staff, and very soon we could see them through the open window engaged in eating breakfast. I was completely baffled, and had no opportunity, nor had any of us, to renew our attempts, as a body of cavalry soon arrived, before whom we thought it prudent to retire, and accordingly made a sudden retreat.

AUSTRALIS.

GENERAL GRANT'S PECUNIARY AFFAIRS.—General Grant is quite wealthy now, and he is so exceedingly cautious in all his investments that he will be likely to be a millionaire at no very distant day. He owns thirty-eight acres of land within the corporate limits of Washington, valued at $2000 per acre, and his house there is valued at $60,000. Besides these, he owns a farm near St. Louis, and houses at Galena and Philadelphia. The aggregate value of these is probably as much as $300,000. His good luck and caution, together, with his commercial training and fondness for material speculations, are receiving constant exemplifications in his judicious operations. It is quite probable that General Grant, while exercising due liberality and hospitality in the Chief Magistracy, will be the most discreet and practical in the management of his pecuniary affairs of any President since Washington. He is comparatively young, and should he live to the average age of Presidents, will have thirty years after the expiration of his Presidential term in which to add to his private fortune.

JEFF. DAVIS' TRIAL.—Chief Justice Chase opened the U. S. Court at Richmond, Va., last Monday. It was expected that Jeff. Davis' trial would come off—he being represented by his counsel in his absence—but the case was again postponed. How long is this farce to be kept up.

☞It is asserted with some probability by a leading banker who has repeatedly discussed financial matters with Gen. Grant, that he will, at an early day after his inauguration, recommend to Congress legislation looking to a speedy resumption of specie payment.

☞The organists about Washington would like to know just where they will find Grant after he takes his seat in the White House. He has said but little to encourage them—they are still in the dark. If Grant intends to play the part of an organ himself, there will be but little music to pay for.

☞The effect of Gen. Grant's first step relative to applications for office, is said to have had the desired effect. He is not at all annoyed now by untimely and impertinent applications for office, and while on his recent visit to West Point and New York, he says he was not, to his knowledge, even approached by an office seeker.

☞Congress meets on Monday next. Many of the Senators and Representatives have been in Washington a week ago. One of the first measures brought before the Senate will be a bill prepared by Senator Sherman for funding the national debt, and reducing the present rates of interest. CUBAN FILLIBUSTERS.—Marshal Murray of Washington city, has informed the government that the Cuban fillibusters have extensive arrangements in New York, with ramifications in all the other large cities. He says there is danger of them getting away from New Orleans, unless they are closely watched. They have plenty of money, and are purchasing arms and ammunition quite freely. Percontra, Secretary Seward informs the Spanish Minister at Washington that Cuba has nothing to fear from expeditions fitted out in the United States.

EXIT FREEDMEN'S BUREAU.—In accordance with the act of Congress passed July 25, 1868, Gen. Howard has issued an order for the discontinuing on December 21st, of the operations of the Freedmen's Bureau, excepting in the Educational Department, and in the collection and payment of money due soldiers and sailors, and their fees from the Government on account of military services. All officers, except such as are needed as above stated will be discharged, and all the unneeded property of the Bureau sold.

The Educational Department is placed under an Assistant Commissioner in each of the Southern States, and one Assistant Superintendent of Schools in the District of Columbia, with a sufficient number of subordinates. The freedmen's hospitals are to be closed up by the first of January, 1869.

United States Bonds are known to be popular in Europe, but the aggregate amount of our Government securities held in Germany is larger than is generally supposed. Of the six hundred million dollars worth held in Europe, four-fifths, at least, are held in Germany. The daily sales of United States bonds at Frankfort, Hamburg, Bremen and Berlin, will, it is asserted, compare favorably with the transactions in Wall street, and at Rotterdam and Vienna the sales are larger than in London.

The amount of fractional currency daily printed at the Treasury Department is between ninety and one hundred thousand dollars, which is rapidly forwarded to the various Assistant Treasurers and Government depositories throughout the country to fill requisitions made by them on the departments.

The Women's Suffrage Question.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Mrs. Horace Greeley, Susan B. Anthony, and other ladies, in behalf of the Women's Suffrage Association of America, have in circulation for signatures the form of an appeal or petition to Congress in behalf of equal suffrage throughout the country for men and women. They also publish a card, calling attention to this movement, from which we extract the following:

We are now assured that at the opening of Congress next month a vigorous movement will be made "for a constitutional amendment providing for universal suffrage in all the States." We now wish to press our demand that womanhood also be recognized in the proposed enlargement of suffrage and citizenship. Woman's capacity to participate in the affairs of government is no longer questioned among honest and intelligent men. It is a fearful satire and slander to question it in presence of hundreds of thousands of male voters, North, South, East and West, of many colors and races, who do not know even the alphabet of any human language under heaven. That woman is taxed equally with man on her property and earnings, and hold amenable to every law; that she is punished by fines, imprisonment and death, is equally well known and admitted. And it is further satire and slander of both her intellectual and moral sense to say that under such circumstances she does not wish to vote. The present is the most favorable opportunity ever presented to press the obligation upon women, and upon man also, who by force withholds from her natural and inalienable and inextinguishable rights. We, therefore, present to-day, with confidence as well as hope, this earnest appeal. Let no time be lost. Let every man, woman and child even, old enough to co-operate, and whose heart is in the cause, lend a helping hand in circulating these petitions. These are the days of mighty energy and activity, in every department of human effort. Let us not mistake or be behind our time. We work for no one nation, no one generation. Our cause is commensurate with humanity; wide as all habitable space, lasting as all time. Let us appreciate our sublime calling, and act in all things worthy of it.

Pennsylvanians Who Have Been in the President's Cabinet.

It is interesting, at this time, now that a contest is being made for appointment in the Cabinet of the President elect, to notice the number of such position filled by Pennsylvanians. The early Presidents did not seem to care much about the statesmen of Pennsylvania, as neither Washington nor John Adams sought an "advisor" in this State. In 1809, Thomas Jefferson appointed Albert Gallatin Secretary of the Treasury, after Samuel Dexter, of Mass., had retired from that position Gallatin continued with Jefferson to the end of his second term, and when Monroe became President was re appointed. During Monroe's last term Wm. Jones was appointed Secretary of the Navy. During Jackson's administration Samuel D. Ingham and Wm. J. Duane were Secretaries of the Treasury. In the Tyler Cabinet Walter Stewart was Secretary of the Treasury; James M. Porter and William M. Wilkins, respectively, Secretaries of War. With Polk James Buchanan was Secretary of State. Taylor appointed Wm. M Meredith Secretary of the Treasury. James Campbell was Postmaster General in the Pierce administration. Buchanan had Jeremiah S. Black as Attorney General; and at the close of his administration, Black went into the War Department, in which he was succeeded by Edwin M. Stanton. During Mr. Lincoln's administration Simon Cameron and Edwin M. Stanton were at the head of the War Office.

From the above it will be seen that Pennsylvania has had more of her citizens in the Treasury than in any of the other Departments of the Government; it is a fact, too, that during the Revolutionary war, the ablest financier in the interest of the colonies was a Pennsylvanian. But it is also true, that Pennsylvania has not had an equal share of Cabinet positions in comparision with that enjoyed by other of the original Thirteen States. She has always been slighted, for what cause we cannot explain, as the candidates for President supported by the Keystone State has almost always been elected, until the political maxim has obtained currency, that as goes Pennsylvania so goes the Union. Whether the President elect will pass over the statesmen of our State, in forming his Cabinet, is yet to be seen. —Harrisburg State Guard.

The Alabama Question.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Now that the injunction of secrecy has been removed from the negotiations of Minister Johnson for the settlement of our difficulties with Great Britain, it is proper to announce that the protocol agreed upon contains three articles, which are virtually as follows:

Article first provides for the general settlement of all claims between the two governments which have arisen since the convention of 1853.

Article second provides especially for the settlement of the claims against Great Britain by this government known in the diplomatic correspondence of the last three years as the Alabama claims.

Article third provides for the appointment of a joint commission of four persons (two to be selected by each government), who shall sit in Washington to decide upon the validity of these claims, and also provides that in case the commission does not unanimously agree on any of the questions committed to it, such questions shall be referred to the arbitration of some potentate not specifically to be named, except that he shall be friendly, or, in other words, at peace with both England and the United States.

The Boston Board of Trade have adopted a resolution expressing the hope that Congress will devise a uniform system which shall bring the telegraph lines of the United States within the reach of all classes of our people, and make it available for the transmission for all kinds of intelligence.

The Annual Reports.

We herewith give a synopsis of the annual reports of the Military, Indian, Subsistence and Quartermaster Departments:

DIVISION OF THE PACIFIC.—Maj. Gen. Halleck's division includes the States of Oregon, California and Nevada, and the Territories of Alaska, Washington, Idaho and Arizona, in all a territory of 1,000,218 square miles, with about 12,750 statute miles of sea coast, including the islands. Its population is about 700,000 whites and about 130,000 Indians. The division, for military administration, is divided into three apartments:—The departments of Alaska, Columbia and California.—Gen. Halleck approves the suggestion of Gen. Davis, commanding in Alaska, to establish military posts in the vicinity of the larger tribes of Indians, and estimates the population of Alaska at 8,000 whites and 15,000 Indians.—The military force now there consists of two full regiments of infantry and nine companies of cavalry.

THE INDIAN BUREAU.—Commissioner Taylor estimates the number of Indians within the bounds of United States, exclusive of those in Alaska, at 300,000. The Commissioner strongly recommends that wise and liberal treaties be made with the Indians of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and Washington territories, looking to their concentration on reservations and to the payment on our part for the rights of which they have been despoiled. Claims to the amount of about $100,000 have been presented for depredations committed by the Indians in the war of 1863.

THE SUBSISTENCE DEPARTMENT.—Brig. Gen. Eaton, Commissary General in his report for the year ending June 30, 1868, says:—The average cost of fresh beef furnished the army east of the Rocky Mountains, was eleven and three-tenths cents per pound, which is three-tenths of a cent less than last year. The average cost this year at nine principal points of supply, was twenty-three and one-fifth cents per ratio. The average value of tobacco furnished per month, and deducted from the pay proper of the men using it, was $19,366. The value of the subsistence stores supplied the freedmen for the fiscal year of 1867, was $832,084 and in 1868 $632,776, making a total of $1,516,471, of which the Freedmen's Bureau has repaid $1,048,663. The value of army stores issued to the Indians in 1867, was $644,439, and in 1868, $373,926. The number of claims for commutation of rations to soldiers who were prisoners during the war, and to their heirs, is 4,944, on which there has been paid over $250,500. For stores taken and used by the army, 5,386 claims have been received, of which 3,545, aggregating $2,088,373 have been disallowed; 996 aggregating $668,034, have not been examined, and 845, amounting to $196,930, have been passed.—The whole number of army accounts, of all kinds, was 12,502, of which 12,215 have been examined and sent to the Treasury department.

THE QUARTERMASTERS DEPARTMENT.—Brig. Gen. Meigs in his report gives as the amount of the appropriation to his department, $37,000,000. The expenditures have been $36,500,000. The whole number of animals in the service, is as follows:—Horses, including those of officers, 13,291; mules, 17,866; oxen 211. The Quartermaster General has sold 331 buildings, and transferred 108 to the Freedmen's Bureau.—The sales of surplus and damaged clothing and equipments, for the year have amounted to nearly $4,000,000.

One of the most interesting sections of the report refers to national cemeteries. The number of national cemeteries, is 72, and reports have been received from 320 local, post or private grounds. The total number of soldiers' graves is 316,233, of which the occupants of 145,764 have been certainly identified. The amount expended for sites, care, transportation and all other purposes connected with the work to June 30, 1868, was $2,600,000. The estimated expense of next fiscal year is $500,000.

Brigham Young on Long Dresses.

In a recent sermon, Brigham Young, the Mormon Prophet, delivered the following homily on the fashions:

"It is the duty of the husband or father to furnish his family with cloth to dress themselves, it is their duty to see that cloth is cut and made prudently and not wasted. It is a disgrace to a community to drag their cloth in the dirt. How many women are there here to-day who walked to this Tabernacle, without throwing dirt every step they took, not only on themselves but upon those who walked near them? I shun them; when I see them coming I try to make my way in some other direction, in order to avoid their dust. I can get enough of it without receiving it from them. If there is a nuisance in the path, they are sure to wipe up a portion of it with their dress, and then trail it on their carpet or into the bedrooms and distribute it through the house. This is a disgrace to them. It is not the duty of my brethren to buy cloth to be dragged through these streets, and the wife or daughter who will not cease dragging her dress through them ought to have it cut off. I have borne it, and so have my brethren, until duty demands that we put a stop to it. I have politely expostulated with my wives and daughters on this subject. I have asked them if they think it looks nice, and have been told that it did, their reason for thinking so being that somebody else wore it so. That is all the argument that can be brought in its favor. There is no reason in the world why a dress looks well trailing through the streets. On the other hand, I will say, ladies, if we ask you to make your dresses a little shorter, do not be extravagant and cut them so short that we can see the tops of your stockings. Bring them down to the tops of your shoes, and have them so that you can walk and clear the dust, and do not expose your persons. Have your dresses neat and comely, and conduct yourself, in the strictest sense of the word, in chastity. If you do this, you set a good example before the rising generation. Use good language, wear comely clothing, and act in all things so that you can respect yourselves and respect each other. We wish you to remember and carry out these counsels."

General Sheridan's Report.

From the New York Times.

The report of General Sheridan on the conduct of affairs in the Indian Department, depicts more clearly the horrors of war than any document which we remember to have read since the Rebellion began. Its whole tone and manner continually remind one of Sherman's forcible expressions: "War is cruelty—you cannot refine it." And the most painful part of it is not the plain, unvarnished, and brief narrative of massacres, but the explanation of how conflicting authorities, and speculating officials deluded trusting settlers to their ruin, and betrayed the deep-laid plans of the military. The cruelty of the Indians is overshadowed by the more inhuman, though, perhaps, less culpable, deceit of the Indian agents and Peace Commissioners. "All confidence is destroyed. The people had had some degree of security from the assurances of the Peace Commissioners, and many of them have met a horrible fate in consequence." The faithlessness of the ignorant Indian is forgotten, when we read Sheridan's description of the result of the mismanagement of our more unscrupulous agents. The ninety-two dead Indians, slain since the war reopened, are forgotten when we reflect that eighty-six whites have been sacrificed by the same mismanagement.

"There are too many fingers in the pie, too many ends to be subserved and too much money to be made, and it is the interest of the nation and humanity to put an end to this inhuman farce. The Peace Commission and the Indian Department, and the military and the Indians, make a 'balky team' The public Treasury is depleted, and innocent people murdered in the quadrangular management, in which the public Treasury and the unarmed settlers are the greatest sufferers."

It is the most horrible feature of all wars, that not the actual combatants, but the innocent, trusting, and deluded non-participants, must suffer most.

General Sheridan's report is a powerful protest against the longer continuance of a system of Indian warfare and Indian government which is opposed to all the interests of the West, and in violation of all reason as well as humanity. For years we have disbursed, through dishonest agents, immense tributes to insignificant tribes, in order to secure a peace we had no reliance upon; and as an additional security of this distrusted peace, have maintained at enormous expense a large army, totally incapable, by reason of its peculiar organization and equipment, of carrying on an effective offensive campaign, or of defending any other settlers than those located immediately under the guns of the established forts and posts No part of our generally contemptible civil service has been so badly managed as our Indian affairs; and since the army must occupy the disputed country, and since only force will keep the Indians in control, it is high time the civil department surrendered the duty it cannot perform to the department to which it naturally belongs.—General Grant knows the true value of the opinions of such practical men as Sherman and Sheridan, and he will not be long in inaugurating this much needed reform.

The Whipping-Post in Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Nov. 21.—The regular semi-annual exhibition of barbarism took place at New Castle this morning, seven men being whipped and one pilloried.

The first victim was William Jones, who had been convicted of stealing store goods from the store of Mr. Lattomus. He was placed in the pillory at 10 o'clock, and stood there in the cold wind with head and hands in fixed position and unable to move his body for one hour. He was taken down at 11 o'clock and taken back to jail to sufficiently recover from the effects of his torture to be able to stand a flogging.

The jail yard contained a large crowd, over a hundred of whom were children—both boys and girls—who appeared to take great delight in the exhibition. Children not five years old were brought by their larger brothers and sisters to "see the show," and with eager impatience awaited its commencement.

Promptly at 11 o'clock Sheriff Richardson, cat-o'-ninetails in hand, made his appearance, and immediately afterwards a little colored boy, who had to stand on a soap-box to get his hands in the manacles (which had been wrapped to make them fit his wrists), was led out. His name was Matthew Perry, and he had been convicted of stealing seventy-five cents' worth of pig iron. Twenty lashes with the cat were laid on, and the Sheriff's leniency was such that the boy made no outcry.

The next person whipped was a light colored mulatto boy of about 16 years, who plead guilty of stealing a pair of shoes and five cents. He received twenty lashes. He came out with a fixed smile on his face and managed to keep it there through the operation.

William Maloney, a young white man, convicted of stealing a bundle of clothing, received twenty lashes.

The next man was George Klutch, an old infirm and gray-haired man, convicted of stealing a shirt. He trembled violently and gave forth feeble moans, while his facial contortions showed agony of both body and mind. He received twenty lashes.

Charles Wheatly, a young white man, convicted of stealing a pair of boots, received 20 lashes without displaying much emotion. He, in a spirit of bravado, danced a jig as he went back to jail.

Howard Lee, a slight and trembling youth, with a large plaster on his breast, who pleaded guilty of stealing a valise, received twenty lashes, very lightly laid on.

William Jones, who had been in the pillory before the whippings commenced, received twenty lashes, and the exhibition closed with a shout of triumph from the delighted children.

Sheriff Richardson evidently shrank from his miserable task, and several gentlemen complimented him on his humanity.

Among the spectators were Rev. George A. Latimer, of Calvary church; Dr. John Cameron, and others, drawn to the place not out of idle curiosity, but from serious interest in this bad and barbaric scene.—Ed. Commer.

LANDSLIDE IN MAINE.—The people in the village of Cumberland Mills and vicinity, which is about five miles from this city, were startled, about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, by a rumbling noise and jarring of the earth, which they supposed to be an earthquake.—Investigation, however, disclosed an immense landslide on the north bank of the Presumpscot river, about one-third of a mile below Cumberland mills. The land sunk extends back from the river nearly half a mile, in an oblong shape, and is some forty rods in width, embracing at least thirty acres. It fell from thirty to fifty feet, and the river was dammed up for more than an eighth of a mile. The land which sunk was for ten feet from the surface a light, sandy loam, and below that blue clay.

The water continued to back up and overflow adjacent lands. The Cumberland paper mills were flooded to the first windows on the lower floor, entirely submerging all in the lower part of the mill, including, of course, the valuable machinery in the basement. It was apparent that the convulsion was not occasioned by the undermining of the river. The sinking evidently commenced some distance away from that, and the bed of the river was pressed upward to the level of the surrounding land. An intelligent gentleman, who carefully examined the scene, theorizes that the long continued wet weather had softened the substratum of clay until it would not sustain the weight above.

The water in the section overflowed apparently ceased to rise about five o'clock yesterday afternoon, and no damage was apprehended by the rise of water above the upper dam at Cumberland Mills. It is difficult to approximate the amount of damage inflicted, but it cannot, it was thought, fall short of $100,000. The course of the river will be permanently changed. —Portland Argus, Nov. 23.

The daughters of the late Chief Justice Taney, it is said, earn their living in Washington by copying reports and papers for the Secretary of the Interior

General Grant has directed that the large number of recruits now at Carlisle Barracks be sent to Gens. Sherman and Sheridan to fight the Indians.

There is an eagle's nest in a tree on the shore of the Mattawaumkeag lake in Maine, which has continued there ever since the country was visited by white men.

The Hawaiians out-do the people of Paris. The latter indulge in horseflesh; but Kanakas eat the flesh of the jackass, and declare it the tenderest and sweetest of meats.

Fishermen burned tar barrels on Nahant beach a few evenings since to attract schools of herring reported in the bay, and found the device successful, as they were able to take large numbers.

The Democrats did not elect a candidate within a hundred miles of La Crosse, Wisconsin, where Brick Pomeroy's infamous paper is published. Its blackguardism is enough to disgust any civilized people.

An oyster was raked up off Bullock's Point, Narragansett Bay, R. I., on Friday, with a metal baggage check, of the sort used by the Boston and Providence Railroad six years ago, grown fast into its shell.

At the manufactories of shoes in Lynn steam power is so largely used that one-tenth of the business of the city is suspended on account of certain repairs being made in five establishments, temporarily depriving them of their steam.

Drunkenness is terribly on the increase in Russia. The number of drinking houses has increased from 460 to 2,500 in six years. It is said that the government has under consideration measures for closing the greater part of them, reducing the number all through the country to about what it was six years ago.

At Fayetteville, Texas, a few days ago, a singular phenomenon was seen in the heavens. The sun shone brightly, and in its direction, at the height of several hundred feet, were to be seen floating in the air, innumerable substances somewhat resembling stars in appearance though of a bright silvery cast, and also thousands of long silvery threads, some of them seemingly ten or fifteen feet in length.

A new sand grinding machine has been introduced into Cheshire, Mass., by which sand is ground as fine as flour. It is put up in barrels and sells at $25 per barrel, and is used extensively in the manufacture of porcelain lined kettles. It much resembles flour in its pulverized state, that the danger is that people will be trying to use it for the same purposes, and that grocers will be selling it for sugar.

The Sultan of Turkey has about nine hundred wives, but only three are his favorites, each of them of remarkable beauty. Their names are: "Dournel," the new pearl; "Hairani Dil," the excellent heart, and "Eda Dil," the elegance of the Heart. His eunuchs, chamberlains, pages, pipe bearers, grooms, &c., number over two thousand persons, for whom some six thousand dishes are daily prepared, which are served at five hundred tables.

The Council of State of the Canton of Obwald, Switzerland, has published an edict, forbidding any youth under eighteen years of age to smoke, under a severe penalty. If the youth of this country could be restrained from the use of tobacco until they were eighteen years of age, it would save many from enfeebled health, would prevent the formation of the habit in multitudes, and would save a mint of money

A letter from West Point says: "Young Mr. Grant, or 'Fred,' as he is called, got a short furlough to welcome his father and mother. He is a fair, fresh-skinned boy, with bluish-gray eyes, rather chubby in appearance, and is not, by any means, in the opinion of the students, the brightest boy in his studies. Still he has that bony, massive head and manner of looking steadfastly, like his father, at matters and things, which has made the latter famous."

English savans are discussing with considerable earnestness the question whether ice expands or contracts under the action of cold. Prof. Tyndale takes the ground that it expands; and thinks that he proves it, by fitting closely round blocks of ice strong iron bands, and then submitting the whole to the action of a freezing mixture, when the iron bands shortly burst asunder with a loud noise. Others insist that cold contracts ice, and attribute the bursting of the bands to the contraction of the iron.

Some parties in New England are testing the practicability of co-operative farming. The principle upon which the experiment is being conducted is substantially this: A company supplies the capital for the purchase and working of the farm, and the food for the families employed upon it. When the crops are harvested, a dividend of the products is made according to the capital and labor invested. This looks feasible, and doubtless if properly managed, would work well.

A singular variation on the "Enoch Arden" romance is narrated as an incident of last week in a country town of Cork, Ireland. The heroine of the adventure, married ten years ago, was shortly afterwards forsaken by her husband, who emigrated to America. At the end of nine years she married again, the second husband, like the first, belonging to the laboring class.—Soon after this the return of the first husband was reported; whereupon the woman, who had kept the fact of her first marriage a profound secret, immediately disappeared, and the most diligent search by both husbands has failed to discover her retreat.

We observed the custom of Thanksgiving Day by partaking of a sumptuous repast at the Morrison House, kept by W. W. Hildebrand & Co. It will not be amiss to state that the reputation of this first-class House is well established, and the proprietors continue to minister to the comfort of guests.

It is true as an exchange says that it frequently happens that a person would give almost the price of a whole year's subscription for a single copy of the paper containing something which interests them. You can get the paper for a whole year for the sum of two dollars, which isn't four cents a week out of your earnings.

Good Templars Convention.

The Quarterly Convention of the Good Templars of this district was convened in this place on Tuesday last and adjourned on Wednesday evening. There were over twenty lodges represented, and the reports from them indicated that the lodges were in a flourishing condition, with few exceptions. The time of the Convention was taken up with the discussion of a series of resolutions, not a few of which were of the "teetotal whole-figure" complexion and which were unanimously passed. Public meetings were held each evening. On the first evening Mr. S. B. Chase, the Grand Worthy Templar of the order in this State, delivered an able and instructive lecture, and on Wednesday evening, remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Morehead, S. T. Brown, Esq., and others. The next Convention will be held in Hollidaysburg on the third Tuesday in February.

Is the Young Man Sane?

We find the following item in the last Monitor:

"The latest forgery—the 'Card' published by the Globe and Journal last week purporting to be signed by J. S. Cornman. Such a piece of malignant villainy could only be conceived and perpetrated by such men as conduct the Globe and Journal."

We simply ask this week, what has been our offence? The article we published—and the Journal published the same—was also published in the Monitor as editorial. We copied from the original manuscript, of John Scott, Esq., and the paper was signed by J. S. Cornman in Mr. Scott's office in presence of Mr. Scott, John S. Miller, Sheriff Neely and ourself. Where the forgery comes in we are at a loss to know. We ask for an explanation.

County Institute.

The attention of teachers and school directors is invited to the call of the County Superintendent for the Teachers Institute which meets in this place on Monday, the 14th inst. As every measure has been taken to provide for the accommodation of teachers in our midst, during the session, it is to be hoped that none will neglect attending; and School Directors are requested to grant the teachers the time to attend. The meeting promises to be as attractive and profitable as the Institute last year, and the attendance of teachers should be equally as large if not larger.

☞ Mr. William Goodman, of this place, who was run over by a caboose car at Mill Creek on Monday morning of last week, died on Monday afternoon last. His sufferings were great, mortification of his legs having taken place. He leaves a wife and two small children to mourn his loss.

County Teachers Institute.

To the Teachers and School Directors of Huntingdon County. The Huntingdon County Teachers Institute for 1868, will be held in the Court House, in Huntingdon, commencing on Monday, Dec. 14th, at two o'clock, p. m., and closing Friday evening Dec. 18th. Teachers, School Directors and Friends of Education are invited and respectfully urged to attend.

Prof. S. G. Boyd, of York County, Miss Fannie Haley, of Boston, Mass., H. W. Fisher, Supt. of Bedford County, and Prof. M. Mohler, of Mifflin, will be present as Instructors.

Prof. Boyd, K. A. Lovell, and S. T. Brown, Esqs., and Dr. J. H. Wintrode, will give evening readings.

Essays will be read by a number of Teachers.

A spelling contest will take place, and suitable prizes will be awarded to the three teachers missing the fewest number of words.

Teachers on their arrival in town, will report immediately at the Court House, have their names enrolled and receive tickets.

All teachers who are preparing to teach, will receive tickets, and be regarded as members of the Institute on entering their names on the roll.

The committee on permanet certificates will be elected on Monday afternoon.

In accordance with a suggestion of the School Department, Thursday will be considered "Directors' Day."

It is hoped that a goodly number of directors will be present on that day, as matters in which they have a particular interest will be attened to.

It is desired that every Board of Directors in the County will grant their teachers the time to attend. There will be nothing lost to the districts by this course, for teachers who attend County Institutes invariably teach better than those who do not attend, and as to "putting in time," there is only too much of this kind of teaching done; more should be accomplished in one month, in many cases than is done in four. We ask School Directors then as guardians of the interests of our common schools to lend there influence to induce teachers to attend the County Institute.

Teachers of Huntingdon County, we ask and expect every one of you who has any professional pride, every one who does not wish to see our county disgraced by a want of professional zeal, and every one of you who realizes the responsibility of his position, not to batch worthless excuses but to come on Monday and stay till Friday. And we promise you a good time. Arrangements have been made for the accommodation of teachers at the hotels at reduced rates.

A Man Killed.

The train due here at 8 p. m., on Saturday evening last, instantly killed Mr. John Brought, near the first bridge above Lowistown. Mr. B. is a respectable farmer living near the see ond bridge. He had been down the road on business, and was returning home—walking on the left track, and when the accident occurred, he stepped to the right to get out of the way of a train going east, when the locomotive of the passenger train coming west struck him. His head was completely severed from the body close to the lower jaw. The train was stopped and the body taken on board and left off at the first division house nearest the farm of the unfortunate man. It is supposed the noise of the train going east prevented him from hearing the approach of the passenger train west.

Accident.

A little son of Mr. John Shriner of this place met with his death under very peculiar circumstances. On Saturday last he found a bottle of liniment containing hartshorn which his father had been using, and drank a quantity of it, which had the effect of burning his throat and stomach. He lived until Sunday, when death put an end to his suffering.

Lecture

For the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Huntingdon. Hon. Stockett Matthews, of Maryland, will deliver a lecture in the Court House, on Friday evening, December 11th. Subject, "Romance of American Progress." This lecture will be entirely unpolitical, but not altogether unpoetical.

PROGRESS.—Columbus sailed to the American coast in a four hundred ton ship, and first landed upon the island of St. Domingo. Last week a vessel from St. Domingo unloaded in New York over four hundred tons of St. Croix Rum for P. H. Drake & Co., of that city. This is but a few weeks' supply of this article, which these gentlemen use in the manufacture of the celebrated Plantation Bitters. We are informed by an exchange that Messrs. Drake & Co., have not advertised a dollar for a year, but that the sales of this article continue at the former enormous figure. In 1864, the receipts of the Plantation Bitters were equal to those of the New York & New Haven Railroad. 1t

MARRIED,

Nov. 17th., by the Rev. J. J. Kerr, Mr. JOHN H FOREMAN, of Upper Strasburg, Franklin Co., Pa., to Miss SUSAN H. CARTER, of Fostoria, Blair County.

On the 24th inst., at Tyrone, by Samuel Jones, Esq., Mr. WM. ROBERT, to Miss SUSANNA SHARR, both of Shirleysburg, Huntingdon County, Pa.

In Huntingdon, on the 26th inst., by Peter Swoope, Esq., Mr. JAMES McDONALD, of Mapleton; to Miss ELIZA M. MOORE, of Porter twp., Huntingdon County.

At Centre Mills, Adams County, Pa., on Nov. 22, 1868, at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. Mr. Snyder, Mr. G. W. WARFEL, of Mill Creek, Pa., and Miss MOLLIE A. SMITH, of the former place.

DIED,

On the 20th inst., in this place, after a brief but painful illness, LOUALEN GRANT, son of John and Mary Schriner, aged 2 years and 4 months.

On earth no more we see his face,
His body in the grave is placed;
But while it there in silence lies,
His spirit lives above the skies.

He lives with angels and with saints,
Free from all sorrow and complaints;
He lives a happy spirit there,
And in their glory has a share.

Gone but not forgotten. F.

In Lowistown, on the 18th November, 1868, GEORGE W. THOMAS, Esq., aged 62 years, 8 months and 16 days.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PHYSICAL VITALITY cannot be attained while the digestive organs lack tone and soundness. Inactive digestion affects the whole physique of man, from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet. It is the forerunner of Dyspepsia with its indescribable miseries, and often prepares the way for worse disorders. We speak from experience, as well as on the authority of all liberal-minded practitioners, who present a voluminous array of testimony in its favor, when we say that HOSTETTER'S HERB BITTERS not only gives instant relief to every sufferer, but affords the means for a quick, effectual and permanent cure of all diseases arising from a disordered stomach, liver, &c. It completely, purifies the blood, cleanses the secretions, corrects every irregularity of the system, re invigorates the constitution, and restores the different organs of the body to a healthy condition and proper action. Sold everywh re. dec2-1m.

AN EXTRACT from an Act to prevent nuisances within the borough of Huntingdon, passed 24th of January, 1831:

SECT. 1. That if any person shall cast on any of the streets of the said borough, any rubbish, dirt, dung, or other thing, which shall in any degree tend to make the passage of such streets inconvenient, or from which any filth may arise, except in such places only as shall be agreed on by the Supervisors or any of them, or if any butcher shall keep in or near his slaughter house any garbage or other filth whatsoever, or any person keep a hog-stye so near as to annoy his neighbor or any other person, every such person so offending shall forfeit and pay the sum of three dollars for every such offence, and shall pay the cost of removing the same, he, she or they being first convicted thereof before any one of the Burgesses. nov18

AN ORDINANCE relating to a SIDEWALK TO THE CEMETERY.

SECT. 1. Be it enacted by the Burgesses and Town Council of the Borough of Huntingdon and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Street Regulator shall proceed forthwith to regulate, grade and mark off pavements or sidewalks of the width of five feet and four inches along the northern side of Church street, from Montgomery street to the intersection of the Cemetery lane, thence along the western side of said lane to the corner of the old Cemetery.

SECT. 2. That the owner or owners, occupier or occupiers of lots of ground fronting said street between the points designated in the preceding section shall, on or before the first day of December next, pave the sidewalk opposite such lots with good hard brick, or lay at walk of the width mentioned in the first section of plank two inches in thickness, to be laid crosswise and supported by three stringers of at least four by six inches in thickness—the plank to be secured to the stringers by spikes or nails.

SECT. 3. That if any owner or occupier of lots shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this Ordinance by the first day of December next, the Street Commissioner shall then proceed forthwith to make such sidewalks and present bills for the cost thereof, which amount, together with costs, shall be collected from said owners according to law.

Passed November 6th. 1868.

What Constitutes a Good Road.

From the Practical Farmer.

The following recent decision in the Delaware judicial district, where a supervisor was indicted for neglect to keep the roads in good traveling order, will commend itself to the com*mon sense* of the community everywhere. Judge Butler's charge of what is to be considered a legal road, and what are the duties of Supervisors, has not been so well delivered before, or understood. A mutual understanding of what the law is has long been wanting; and if roads are not hereafter kept "in good repair and free from obstructions," the fault will be with the citizens.

"The defendant, a supervisor in Darby township, is indicted for neglect to perform the duties of his office. It is the business of the supervisors of the public highways to keep the roads in their respective townships in good order for use—to have all new roads properly constructed and old ones carefully repaired. They are not vested with authority to judge how much space the travel in a particular place requires, nor how poor or indifferent a road will answer its purpose. To the full extent that the ground has been appropriated to the public use, by the law, it must be opened, the entire space constructed into a good and convenient highway, and be thereafter continually kept in such condition.—To remove the fences and throw the ground open—or, in addition, to plow a ditch on either side, is not to construct a road within the meaning of the law. The ground must be made reasonably smooth, freed from obstructions, and put in such shape that the water will drain off to the side, leaving the roadway dry and solid. Where the width is fixed at thirty three feet, (as is usual,) or at any other limit, it is because the Court, aided by the report of the jury, has determined that this space is necessary. And whether this determination be wise or not, the supervisors cannot consider. Their duty is simply to obey the order of the Court and the Act of Assembly, to open the road to the entire extent, and keep it thereafter free from obstructions and in good repair. If it is not needed to accommodate the travel, care should be taken that the Court is properly informed and the road not established; or if it has already been established, that it be vacated. But so long as it remains upon the records as a public highway it must be kept in good order for use. If any part of it be obstructed by fences, stumps, rocks (that can be removed,) holes, or the like, such obstruction constitutes a nuisance and renders the supervisors liable to indictment. And in case of injury to any one, in person or property, from this cause, the supervisors are further liable in damages to the full extent of the loss thus sustained. And it may be well that the people of the townships should understand that they, too, are responsible in their corporate capacity, for such loss. The supervisors are their agents, and their safety in this requires that they should elect suitable men to the office, and see that they perform their duty. The subject is one of deep interest to the public. No intelligent person can fail to appreciate the advantage of good roads, nor to see that what is saved by withholding the means necessary to have them, is poor compensation indeed for the wear and tear of teams and vehicles, to say nothing of the inconvenience, delay, vexation and danger of traveling on bad ones.

In the case before us it appears that a road was laid out in Darby township, some years ago, forty feet in width—that the fences were removed, and in some places ditches made at the sides, that the timber growing upon it (a part of the distance being through woodland,) was cut down—that no rondbed was formed, the uneven face of the ground being left as it was found, and on which the rain-water lay as it fell—that the stumps of the trees cut amounted to several hundreds, and being one to two and a half feet high, were allowed to remain—that two large logs lay in the road, —that a considerable part of the space between the fences has, at some points, until very recently, been grown up with bushes five to eight feet high, and that the travel has been mainly confined for a considerable distance to a single track. The defendant has been in office upward of one year.—You will say whether he has performed his duty in respect to this road. If he has not, he should be convicted. It has been asserted on the trial that this road is in no worse condition than other roads, elsewhere in the country. If this be true, it furnishes no excuse for the defendant, though it may furnish a reason why other supervisors should also be brought to trial and punished. You will now take the case and say whether the defendant is guilty or not."

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty, and a fine was imposed.

"I'd RATHER CARRY IT."—Going from market the other day, we observed a very small boy who gave no special indication, by dress or face, of other than ordinary sensations or training in life, carrying a basket that was so heavy as nearly to bear him down beneath it. We observed, "Well, my boy, you have a heavy load."—"Yes," said he, "but I'd rather carry it than that mother should." The remark was one of a nature we love to hear; but we do not know that we should have thought enough of it to have chronicled it, had we not seen across the street a highly accomplished young lady playing the piano, while her mother was washing the windows. We have no reason for forestalling the reflections and comparisons of our readers on the facts.

☞ "William," said one Quaker to another, "thee knows I never call any body names; but, William, if the mayor of the city were to come to me and say, 'Joshua, I want thee to find me the biggest liar in Philadelphia,' I would come to thee and put my hand on thy shoulder, and say to thee, 'William, the mayor wants to see thee.'"

☞ Do not wait for a change of outward circumstances, but take your outward circumstances as they are, and make the best of them.

☞ Many men and women have had occasion to know that two do not necessarily make a pair.

A Michigan farmer husked 100 bushels of corn in eight hours and won $25 premium.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were engendered by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rudely develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the *surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tuber*cles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Tet'r St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Pile, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

will quickly restore Gray Hair to its natural color and beauty, and produce luxuriant growth. It is perfectly harmless, and is preferred over every other preparation by those who have a fine head of hair, as well as those who wish to restore it. The beautiful gloss and perfume imparted to the Hair makeit desirable for old and young.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and performing the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.

McGUIRE'S

WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath, should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them.
